Westminster Presbyterian Church - Knappe Creek.

Westminster Presbyterian Church was organized by a Commission of Greenbrier Presbytery on the 24th day of October, 1903, when members of the Huntersville Church, living near the present site of Westminster Church, petitioned Presbytery for a separate organization at Sunset, West Virginia. The building now occupied by the Westminster Church was associated with the Huntersville Presbyterian Church and for several years past has been grouped with Liberty, Baxter, and Huntersville Churches. Before the Westminster Church was built, the Presbyterian ministers came down from Greenbank and held services once a month in the Mount Vernon Methodist Church at Frost.

Westminster Church is situated about half-way between Huntersville and Frost on the Knappe Creek road.
